GROUP TRIPS FOR ADULTS

You bring the people. We carry the trip.

Custom group trips for adults, led by someone their group already trusts: a studio owner, club president, alumni chair, congregation leader, family organizer, or the friend who always ends up planning. Groups of eight or more.

Book a conversation with Rene Piard
Rene is the founder. Tell us a little about your group (about a minute), then pick a time on his calendar.

You do not need trip details yet. No price and no itinerary until you have talked. Rene gives any price himself, once he has heard about your group.

WHAT ORGANIZERS WORRY ABOUT

The four worries, answered straight

Will this become my second job?

It should not. Your travelers book their own flights. Hotels, in-country transport, local guides, registrations, payments and supplier coordination are carried for you, and a point of contact stays reachable from before the first flight through the last dinner. What we ask of you: invite your people and be the voice they trust. Your job is your people.

What if people drop out, or I cannot fill it?

A fair worry, and no page can answer it for your group. Before you invite anyone, ask Rene how deposits, payment deadlines and cancellations work, and what happens if the group comes up short. Not sure of your numbers yet? That is fine to say.

What will it cost me?

There is no fee to host. Rene sets every trip's price himself, after he has heard about your group, so nothing on this page is a quote. Hosting a group does not mean you take on anyone else's cost.

Will it feel like a generic tour?

Every trip is built around your group: your theme, your pace, what your people have loved before and what they never want to repeat. The trips below are examples, not a catalog.

HOW IT WORKS

A conversation first, then the trip

01 Tell us about your group. A short form so Rene comes prepared.

02 Talk with Rene. Who travels with you, what your group has loved, what it never wants to repeat.

03 Shape the trip, if it fits. A local partner we know receives your group and runs the days.

FOR YOU, THE HOST

Hosting can give something back

Give it back. Redirect your share to a school, club or fund your people already care about.

Travel free. When your group fills the trip, your host seat travels free, earned once the booked guests you bring cover it.

Earn a share. A set commission on each booked guest you bring, if you want it.

Full terms are set up front in your host agreement.

> No price, date or availability is promised on this page.
>
> Rene gives those himself, once he knows your group. Ask him anything, including the hard questions about deposits, cancellations and who is responsible if something goes wrong.

Start with one conversation.

No trip details needed. You will not be added to a newsletter.
